CAREER OBJECTIVE

I consider myself a professional with a proven ability to adapt to collaborative and fast-learning environments, keeping the focus on achieving high-quality results within strict deadlines.

I've worked in the marketing field for years and I am now looking forward to an opportunity to enter the IT field as a developer, where I will strive to apply the skills I have acquired so far in my career and achieve great results in this new working field. I'm currently enroled in the Informatics Engineering course at ISEC (Coimbra Institute of Engineering) in an after-work regime, as part of my process of moving to a developer role.
